

Arabica Green Coffee And Jamaican Blue Mountain Blends

The term "single-origin" is a category of coffee that focuses on the specific region or region in which the coffee is grown. Coffee labelled single origin indicates to a single farm, farmer, producer, crop, or region within a country. Each species has many crosses, hybrids, and mutations of the original varieties (cultivars). Human intervention is playing a major role in global development. Green coffee first came from the southwest of Ethiopia.

Green Coffee Bean

Green coffee bean extract is the by-product or extracted from unroasted coffee beans. Coffee beans have an ingredient known as Chlorogenic acid. Green coffee is the result of brewing unroasted coffee beans or what are also known as coffee berries. It is due to brewing. It contains more Chlorogenic acid than roasted coffee. Chlorogenic acid contained in green coffee is said to have health-promoting effects. It lowers blood pressure as it can affect blood vessels. Green coffee is the unroasted coffee beans from coffee fruits such as Coffea Arabica & Coffea canephora.

Arabica Green Coffee

Arabica green coffee is coffee made from the beans of the Arabica coffee tree. Native to Ethiopia, Arabica coffee is the most widely consumed coffee variety in the world, accounting for about 60% of the world's coffee production. Arabica coffee beans are very fragrant. Depending on the growing region and processing technique, the beans can have a fruity, nutty, or chocolate-like taste. It has less caffeine than other coffee beans and has a mild taste.
